CLARIFICATION

Appendix A, the Operational Questionnaire, may not have sufficient space on the lines we have provided for a Proponent to complete their answer. Proponents may use additional paper or prepare a written response to all questions on a separate piece of paper, provided:

- They answer every question, even if it is to indicate the question does not apply to them.
- They clearly cross-reference their response to a question. The Proponent does not have to copy the question in full so long as it is clear which question they are answering.

Issues with cross-referencing will not be a reason to reject a response, however they may impact scoring if the response is difficult to follow due to errors in cross-referencing.
