Subject: Now Open! Nova Scotia Community Solar Program | Program Guide is Available

Good afternoon,

The NS Department of Natural Resources and Renewables is pleased to announce the launch of the Community Solar Program. We invite eligible groups, organizations and communities to apply for this program to build, own and operate a community solar garden. By participating, you'll play a vital role in advancing clean energy within our province.

Here's how you can get involved in the Community Solar Program:

Step 1: Understand Eligibility and Requirements

Begin by familiarizing yourself with the program's eligibility criteria and requirements.

- Visit the Program Website to learn about the program's purpose, understand your responsibilities as a project owner, and access essential program documents, including the program guide, application form, and templates.

Step 2: Attend Online Information Webinars

- Gather your questions: As you explore the program guide and other materials, take note of any questions that arise and ask them during the information webinar.
- Sign up for email notifications: Join our program email list to receive updates on upcoming webinars. We'll notify you of dates and times via email.
- Attend the information webinar: The webinar will be hosted online.

Step 3: Prepare Your Application

- Review the Program Guide: Section 3 "Submitting Your Application" provides guidance on completing the application form and templates.
- Revisit the Program Materials: Familiarize yourself once again with the program guide, application form, application templates and the final checklist as you prepare your application.

Thank you for your interest in the Nova Scotia Community Solar Program.
