To whom it may concern

Harry & I have lived in Shubenacadie outside in a little village called Mill Village for over fifty five years. We have been very proud of the decisions that Shubenacadie has made. When we seen they were moving the cenotaph to the Legion yard we thought it was a very good idea as you can see it every time you drive by and it is a better location as where it was when the service was on the train would go by and and you missed half the service and the road was blocked and the older veterans walked from the Legion & funeral home sometimes in the rain. The Legion is connected with the cenotaph & the veterans. The cenotaph is facing the school and the children get to see it every day and it gets them thinking.

I want you to know Harry & I have the greatest respect for the Veterans as Harry's Dad and two brothers were off to war when Harry was born and it was several months before Harry's Dad got to see him. We know and appreciate the sacrifices they made. We buy everything local and if Shubenacadie can afford to spend over $40,000 to move it back we will not be buying local anymore. Many people we talk to feel exactly the same way.
