Subject: FW: Melvin Lake Wind Project: October 2025 Update

Greetings,

Following our September update, I'm writing to share further details on the status and next steps for Melvin Lake Wind, an onshore wind project proposed south of Highway 101 and west of Pockwock Lake in the Municipality of East Hants and Halifax Regional Municipality. ABO Energy Canada remains fully committed to the Project and continues to advance planning and engagement activities, including planning additional community open houses in 2026 (dates to be confirmed).

Earlier this year, the Melvin Lake Wind Project was one of six projects selected through Nova Scotia's Green Choice Program. As part of this process, each selected project was required to sign a 25-year Power Purchase Agreement with Nova Scotia Power Inc.

- ABO Energy Canada declined to sign the Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) due to external economic conditions and current market realities. In fact, only two of six selected projects proceeded to sign the PPA offered.
- This decision adjusts our development timeline, with construction now anticipated in 2027/2028 and operation in 2029/2030, pending success in the next onshore wind procurement round.
- We anticipate the next provincial procurement process to be announced in early 2026 and plan to submit the Project into this competitive process once again. We are continuing our planning and engagement to be ready for the next procurement.

The province's need for additional renewable energy remains clear, with significant additional wind capacity required by 2030 and 2035. Our project remains well positioned to deliver this reliable, affordable clean power and provide lasting community benefits for the local area and Nova Scotia.

We look forward to keeping you informed as development progresses and welcome your questions or feedback at any time.
