Good morning Graham,

Thank you very much for taking the time to speak with me on the phone. I really appreciate your prompt connection and the opportunity to discuss public engagement for transit in East Hants.

Public transportation is crucial for our growing community, and I have highlighted several times how essential a strong connection with the city is for our residents. In my view, scheduling the first consultation in April or May seems quite far away, and I hope counselors will consider starting community engagement earlier to better involve residents.

Through my volunteering, school involvement, and other community engagement, I have seen that people are strongly supportive of public transportation and recognize the benefits it could bring to our municipality. I look forward to staying involved as the process moves forward and contributing wherever I can.

Thank you again for your time and for listening to community perspectives.

Thank you,

Gordana Kolic

Good morning Gordana,

I received your email below from our communications team. I would be happy to discuss the public engagement for Transit with you. Is there a time this week that would be good for you to have a phone call?

Best regards,

Graham

Subject: Question

Dear,

I hope you are doing well. I've tried reaching out to the municipality through Facebook and the info@easthants.ca email on a few occasions, but haven't received a response, so I'm hoping you can direct me to the right person to ask this question:

I am writing to inquire about the timeline for the public consultation regarding the development of public transit in East Hants.

I understand that community engagement is an important part of this initiative, and I would like to ensure I am able to participate and stay informed. If dates have not yet been finalized, could you please let me know when more information might be available?

Thank you in advance for your time and assistance. I look forward to your response.

Thank you,

Gordana Kolic
